MAJOR McCLOUD

FORMER GLENDALE BOY, CAPTAIN IN U. S. ARMY, IS KILLED

Dispatches from the American forces on the Aisne-Marne front dated July 24th tell of the death of Major J. M. McCloud, killed in action while leading his men. Major McCloud, who is a nephew of Mrs. Ella Richardson, was formerly a Glendale boy when he lived here in the early days with his father. Mrs. Richardson has always been his nearest of kin, and has been notified on the occasions of his earlier injuries in the service. He was married to an English girl about a year ago.

When Major McCloud was but 16 years of age he entered the service, at the time he was living here, and quickly became a Captain during the Spanish-American war. He was later promoted to Major and remained in the army, being stationed at the Philippines until the time the present war broke out, when he entered the British army as Major. He served with the British forces until America entered the war, when he was transferred to Pershing's army. He has been in the thick of the fighting ever since. Twice Mrs. Richardson received cables announcing his injuries, only to hear later of his recovery.

The account of Major McCloud's death follows:

"Maj. J. M. McCloud was wounded while leading his men when the Americans crossed the Soissons-Arras road during the offensive. He was wounded in the left arm and in the left side by machine-gun bullets, but after receiving first aid he continued fighting. The major was killed soon afterwards by a high explosive shell."

COMES FOR A REST

Mrs. F. S. Burberry, of Indianapolis, Ia., arrived yesterday evening for a visit of a few weeks at the home of her sister, Mrs. S. J. Spaulding, of 121 West Park avenue. Mrs. Burberry is chairman of the Woman's Committee of the National Council of Defense for the seventh district, as well as being prominent in Red Cross work in her locality. She is greatly in need of a rest from her strenuous patriotic duties, and feels that after the pleasures and relaxation of a sojourn in Southern California she can resume her exacting work with renewed energies.

VACATION IN MOUNTAINS

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walker and family, 129 North Kenwood, leave today for Camp Baldy, where they will spend the month of August. They have arranged to entertain week-end guests at their mountain cabin during their stay there. Among those who will visit them are Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Wernette and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Cassell and family, Mrs. J. P. Shropshire and daughters, Misses Grace and Birdie.

GO NORTH TO LIVE

Mrs. C. R. Adams, of 829 Louise street, who has for the past seven months been a Glendale resident, is leaving the city within a few days with her little daughter Dorothy, to join her husband, who is a civil engineer engaged in reclamation work on the San Joaquin river, where he is building levees. She will make her home at Modesto. Mr. Adams is experienced in this line of engineering, having worked at the construction of levees in California for several years past. The present enterprise involves the saving of some 6000 acres of rich bottom land which will be made valuable agricultural soil through the construction of the levees. Mrs. Adams, who has lived at various points of Southern California during the past five years, declares herself so much in love with Glendale that she expects to return here to make her permanent home.

DR. MILLS SUPPLIES

WILL HAVE CHARGE OF CHRIST CHURCH UNTIL RECTOR IS CALLED

Dr. C. Irving Mills, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Glendale for many years until ill health forced him to resign some months ago, preached at Christ church in Los Angeles last Sunday and has been invited by that church to take charge of their services until a rector has been called and accepted.

Rev. Baker P. Lee, for many years rector of Christ Church, recently resigned and is seeking a commission in the army.

CERTIFIED MILK

ARDEN DAIRY ONLY CERTIFIED DAIRY IN THE COUNTY SERVES GLENDALE

The Arden Dairy, whose advertisement appears regularly in this paper, informs us that they have the only certified dairy in Los Angeles county. The following information in regard to the advantages of certified milk was obtained from a representative of the Arden Dairy:

In the first place "Certified Milk" is the WHOLE milk with no "additions, alterations or repairs."

The milk question has been thought worthy of their attention by various Medical Societies in the U. S. In some of the larger Eastern cities they have organized Milk Commissions, and certify to the purity and healthfulness of milk produced and handled under their jurisdiction. The term is copyrighted and conditions call for best facilities and care from "cow to consumer."

The Los Angeles Co. Medical Society, in conjunction with the Pure Food Com., have organized a commission to "certify" milk produced and handled as per rules and regulations laid down by them—their only aim and object being to obtain a better milk supply for the community.

Their Articles of Agreement with Arden Dairy contains 68 paragraphs of instructions and agreements. A few of the most important are:

All cows tested by Veterinarian for tuberculosis and other diseases before allowed in the herd.

Daily microscopic examination of milk by Bacteriologist for bacteria and pus cells.

Frequent examinations by Chemist for percentage proteid, fat, sugar, mineral, matter, chemical reaction and specific gravity, and for foreign matter. (Adulterant for preserving, thickening, coloring, etc.)

Veterinary to frequently "inspect" the cleanness of dairy in general, the care and cleanliness observed in milking, care of various utensils used, nature and quality of food used and all other matters of hygienic nature bearing on the health of the cows and the cleanness of the milk.

Physicians appointed to look after health of employees.

The location of farm lands, construction and surroundings of buildings, housing and care—the collecting and handling of the milk, covering the features of contamination, infection, etc., the cooling and keeping the milk cool, the careful washing and sterilizing of bottles and utensils used, the manner of delivery, drivers avoiding houses where contagious diseases exist, etc.—all these points and others are looked after by the Commission, as well as by the proprietor, and are covered by articles of agreement.

The expense of examinations by Veterinarian, Bacteriologist, Chemist and Physician is borne by Arden Dairy.

The production of Certified Milk involves quite a process and expense, but there are no rules and regulations laid down by the proprietor or by the Milk Commission which should be omitted in the securing of best milk.

HOW THIS CASHIER WORKS

In the August American Magazine there is a short article about a cashier who makes courtesy pay. He often cashes checks for people who can not realize how he knows them. The author says:

"Avon Nevius is an assistant cashier in one of the leading banks in the city of Washington, and is probably the most accommodating citizen in the nation's capital. If you don't believe this, the next time you're in Washington just ask anybody."

"As rapidly as a new edition of the 'Congressional Directory' comes out Nevius studies the biographies in it as he would study a textbook. His reason is that a great many members of congress deal in his bank, and he finds it advantageous to know all about them, so that when one comes up and introduces himself as Congressman Jabez Hicks, he can inquire, 'Are you the same Jabez Hicks who used to be president of the Iowa State Senate the year of the big wind?' The Member of Congress is, of course, flattered to find a young man who is so familiar with the high spots in his great legislative career."

GERALD DELGARDO SAFE IN FRANCE

Mrs. S. O. Delgado of 906 Lomita avenue received a card Thursday saying that her son Gerald Delgado had arrived safely in France. Gerald is a member of Co. C., 49th Engineers, and was stationed at Camp Meyer, Va., previous to his trip across the sea.

TERRIFIC ALLIED BOMBARDMENT IN PROGRESS

ENTIRE RHEIMS-SOISSONS SALIENT WITH 400,000 GERMANS IS UNDER SHELL FIRE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, July 27.—French and American artillery is subjecting the entire Rheims-Soissons salient and the 400,000 Germans in it to the most terrible bombardment of the war. Hundreds of thousands of shells of all calibers are being hurled on troop concentration, supply depots and communication lines.

Fere-en-Tardenois, now almost within the French and Americans' grasp, is especially being shelled. Heavy shelling of Missy-sur-Aisne, five miles east of Soissons, prevents the Germans using the big bridges across the Aisne.

The French and Americans driving on the southern extremity of the Soissons-Rheims salient between Verneuil and Chatillon-sur-Marne have tightened up the tip of this pocket until it is only five miles wide.

American and French aviators bombing the roads south of Fismes blockaded traffic for eleven hours.

Further advances north of Port-au-Dinson and local advances in the Champagne region are announced by the French war office.

STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK

MUNITIONS WORKERS RETURN TO JOBS FOLLOWING GOVERNMENT'S CONSCRIPTION ULTIMATUM

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, July 27.—Striking munitions workers began returning to work this morning following the government's ultimatum to enforce conscription and put all idle men in the army unless they go back to work by Monday. Some localities are seemingly defying the ultimatum, but in most cases work is being resumed.

LONDON, July 27.—Striking munitions workers at a mass meeting in Coventry today adopted a resolution that they would not return to work until the embargo on skilled labor is lifted.

MOONEY GRANTED REPRIEVE

GOVERNOR STEPHENS ISSUES STAY OF EXECUTION IN CASE OF CONVICTED MURDERER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LOS ANGELES, July 27.—Governor Stephens this noon granted Thomas J. Mooney stay proceedings until December 13 to assure the people of the United States that he and the Supreme Court will give fullest consideration to the voluminous records in the case. He granted a reprieve to operate as a stay of execution.

CLASS ONE NEARLY EXHAUSTED

A CALL MAY BE ISSUED IN JANUARY FOR REGISTRATION OF MEN BECOMING 21 SINCE JUNE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, July 27.—It is possible that Class 1 drafted men will be exhausted before Congress can act. Many states report that Class 1 men are exhausted. It is likely that a call will be issued in January for the registration of men who have become 21 since June.

AMERICAN FIGHTERS IN ITALY

GENERAL MARCH ANNOUNCES TWO NEW ARMY CORPS FORMED IN FRANCE—ALLIED LINE SHORTENED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, July 27.—General March, Chief of Staff, announced that American fighting forces trained in France have arrived in Italy. The number of men or the regiments are not given. That Americans have formed two new army corps in France, one headed by General Reed, is also announced.

General March's statement also asserted that the German line formerly 38 miles from Paris is now 45 miles distant at the nearest point and in the present offensive the allies' lines have been reduced ten miles by the closing in process.

RAINS HAMPER ENEMY MOVEMENTS

DOWNGRADE IN MARNE DISTRICT SLOWS ADVANCE BUT RENDERS GERMAN POSITION DIFFICULT

ON THE AMERICAN FRONT, July 27.—Heavy rains in the Marne region have slowed up operations but have rendered the enemy's position increasingly difficult. The Germans depend on their ability to maneuver and movement within the narrowing salient is rendered more difficult by the heavy bombardment of our artillery and aviators added to by the elements. The Americans have captured Le-Charmel.

GERMANY'S ALLIES WANT PEACE

COPENHAGEN, July 27.—Vienna reports that the Socialist members of Parliament have sent a communication to the Austrian cabinet declaring that an early peace is essential to Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey and demanding that the ministers renounce annexation and imperialistic aims.

MEEKERS RETURN

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER ANNUAL OUTING AT CORONADO TENT CITY

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Meeker, of 300 East Colorado street, returned on Wednesday evening with their family from a month's outing at Coronado beach, where they were enthusiastic residents of Tent City. Mrs. Meeker reports that they kept "open house" in their big tent during the entire time of their stop there, to the Glendale boys at the various camps, usually having from ten to twelve at dinner each evening and frequently accommodating several for the night. Dancing at the pavilion and midnight bathing were among the amusements in which the young people indulged with great enjoyment. Great crowds thronged the beaches at all times, Mrs. Meeker says, and Sunday, July 21, was a red letter day as it was the last day the boys of the Sunshine division were allowed liberty before their embarkation for active war service. Mrs. Meeker brought with her as her house guest, Miss Cora Louise Tebbetts, of Kansas City and Philadelphia, whose father, George Tebbetts, is a dollar-a-year man in the National Shipping service.

BEACH PICNIC

An especially happy picnic was enjoyed on Friday by a group of girls and some of their older friends who went in two machine loads to Redondo and put in a long day of thoroughgoing fun, starting at nine o'clock in the morning and reaching their Glendale homes on the return trip at midnight. Lunches were eaten amid great merriment on the pier, and every one had a good time in all the many ways which present themselves on such joyous occasions. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Logan, of 203 North Central avenue, and Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Pollock, of 519 West Park avenue, each took their machines, well filled with young people. Others of the picnic party were Mr. and Mrs. S. Williams, Mrs. R. D. George, of 1214 Arden avenue, and the Misses Mary Logan, Marian Addison, Harriet Barnes, Helen Becker, of Stanford, and Pearl Pollock.

REPORTS FOR DUTY

Miss Mary Erskine, sister of Donald E. Erskine of 300 Blanche avenue, who has made many friends in Glendale during her visits to her brother's family, and who has been head night nurse at the Crocker street hospital in Los Angeles, leaves today for camp at San Antonio, Texas, from where she expects to be sent to France. Miss Erskine had received her commission for army service several weeks ago and has been awaiting orders with great impatience. She is greatly in hopes of being able to do active service at the front before the war ends.

DR. BROWN LEAVES

RECEIVES CAPTAIN'S COMMISSION AND ORDERED TO REPORT AT FORT RILEY

Dr. Harry V. Brown, of 111 South Central avenue, has received his commission as Captain in the Medical Reserve and has been ordered to report at Fort Riley, Kansas, on August 7th. Dr. Brown expects to leave Glendale on August 3d. Mrs. Brown and family will remain at their Glendale home in order that the three children may have the advantage of the local schools.

A REAL FISHERMAN

Cameron Thom and family are spending the summer at Santa Monica, where evidently he is having some real sport as a fisherman. Yesterday morning he tried surf fishing and landed a four and a half pound surf-fish, one of the largest of the season's landing. He proudly bore the catch to his summer home, wrapped it up, got into his machine and delivered it with his compliments to Rev. C. A. Cole. Preachers are good judges of fish as well as of chickens and this one was declared one of the finest salt-water fish this preacher has ever sampled. Any fish stories Cameron has to tell his friends hereafter will have the moral backing of Rev. Cole.

Mrs. W. J. Kramer, of 919 Fairview avenue, returned to her home yesterday from the Burbank hospital, bringing with her small William J. Kramer, Jr., who is the pride of the entire family. The little chap was an eight-pound baby, and at two weeks of age is growing lustily.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

MRS. WIDNEY WHO IS SOON TO LEAVE GLENDALE IS HONOR GUEST

A farewell reception in honor of Mrs. Charles C. Widney, of 132 Jackson street, who expects to leave on August 1st to join her husband, who has left to accept a position at Santa Ana, where the family will make their home after four years of residence in Glendale, was given on Friday afternoon by the Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. John L. Wilde was the hostess for the affair at her home, at First and Cedar streets, and over forty guests were present, including members of the senior missionary society and friends of Mrs. Widney as special guests.

The afternoon, from 2 o'clock until five, was spent in pleasant social intercourse with several games and contests to furnish entertainment. Mrs. Widney was presented with a beautiful leather-bound birthday friendship book in which she secured the signatures of all the friends present. A bouquet of pink carnations was also presented at the same time. Mrs. L. N. Richardson accompanying the gifts with a humorous speech which was replied to by Mrs. Widney with a most feeling response. Mrs. Widney dwelt especially on the harmonious relations enjoyed in the organization, of which she has been president for the past two years.

The hostess served delicious refreshments and was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. James Cooper and Mrs. A. M. Z. des Plantes.

ELDER BUTLER

PIONEER IN SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST CHURCH WORK IS DEAD

George Ide Butler, for 11 years president of the General or World Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists between 1871 and 1888, and well known throughout the denomination as its second great administrator, died Thursday, July 25, 1918, at the home of W. T. Heald, near Healdsburg, Cal., at the age of 83. It was under his efficient administration that the Pacific Press Publishing Association, the leading publishing plant of the Seventh-day Adventists in the West, now located at Mountain View, Cal., was first established in 1874 at Twelfth and Castro streets, Oakland. In that year, while president of the World Conference, he made his first visit to California, and at a camp-meeting in Yountville, with the able assistance of Pastor J. N. Loughborough, of St. Helena, presented to the people the necessities and advantages of a denominational publishing house on the Pacific Coast, quickly securing pledges sufficient for the first buildings of the new plant. In 1904 it was moved to Mountain View, and has since been enlarged.

From 1882 and onward Pastor Butler was also president of the Review and Herald Publishing Association, of Washington, D. C., formerly located at Battle Creek, Mich. In this capacity and as associate editor of the "Review and Herald," the official organ of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, and in all the councils of the workers, he exerted a mighty influence for building up and extending the publishing interests of the church. During those years hundreds of colporteurs were trained and sent out with books on the prophecies of the Bible, and hundreds of thousands of pamphlets and leaflets were distributed. The Adventist publishing work has continued to grow until more than two and a quarter million dollars' worth of Seventh-day Adventist literature is circulated each year.

Pastor Butler was born in Waterbury, Vermont, November 12, 1834. At the age of 24 he was united in marriage to Lenthia A. Lockwood, of Springfield, Vt., whose affection he enjoyed for 44 years. To them were born three children, in Waukon, Iowa; Annie, in 1861, and in 1864 twin boys, William Pitt, of Berwyn, near Chicago, Ill., and Hiland George, who is in Italy serving in one of the Red Cross units. Annie died in 1874 at the age of 13 and was buried at Mt. Pleasant, Ia. Mrs. Lenthia Butler suffered a stroke of apoplexy in 1890, and died in Bowling Green, Florida, in 1902.

Five years later, in 1907, Elder Butler was united in marriage to Mrs. Elizabeth Work Grainger, widow of Prof. W. C. Grainger, who for 12 years was president of Healdsburg College, Healdsburg, Cal. Mr. Butler's grandfather, Ezra Butler, was Governor of Vermont two terms, and a member of Congress one term. Governor Butler was one of the pioneer

COMMON SENSE SIGNALS

Arm extended upward—will turn to the right.
Arm extended horizontally—will turn to left.
Arm extended downward—will slow down without turning.

The above is the new "common sense" code of traffic signals that originated in Portland and is destined to spread wherever automobiles are driven. The Automobile Club of Southern California in the south and the Motor Car Dealers Association of San Francisco in the northern part of the state have investigated every type of signal carefully and agreed that the code given above combines safety and simplicity in a manner which makes its universal adoption highly desirable. The northern dealers body has been largely instrumental in bringing the scheme before the public.

It now remains for the motorists of the state to familiarize themselves with the three signals, tell other drivers about them and help educate the public to the advantages of the new scheme. Traffic experts believe that a reduction of at least fifty per cent in the number of accidents resulting from collision will be noted if universal adoption of this code is secured.

Under present conditions when the driver puts his arm out there is no way for the man in the car behind, or in a car approaching, to know what the driver intends to do. Three moves, a turn to the right, a turn to the left, or a stop, are possible. The concise set of signals now recommended for the use of all motorists by the Auto Club entirely eliminates this element of uncertainty.

DEATH OF ELDER BUTLER

settlers of Vermont. He was a minister of the Baptist church, but did not receive a salary. He once said that the only salary he ever received as a preacher was two bushels of wheat.

Pastor Butler's father, Ezra Pitt Butler, was by trade a starch manufacturer. He was deacon in the Baptist church, and in 1843 joined the Adventists, who were then few in number and without organization. Pastor Butler's mother, Sarah Grove Butler, became a Sabbath keeper in 1848, in which year Elder Joseph Bates visited their home, hung up his chart, and gave his exposition of the fundamental doctrines of the Seventh-day Adventists. Three years later Ezra Pitt Butler joined his wife in the observance of the seventh-day Sabbath.

The Butler home was a rallying place for the Adventist people, and George remembered the earnest and joyous discussion of the doctrines as far back as 1842 when he was eight years old; also that on two occasions William Miller visited his father's home.

He attended the public school at Waterbury until 1844. After this, for three years, his experience was like that of other children of Adventists. They remained out of school because the other children were persistent in ridiculing and tormenting them. They would shout at them, "Hello there, haven't gone up yet!" In 1847 he again attended the Waterbury school, where he finished the common grades at the age of 16. After this he attended the academy one year at Jackson and one year at St. Albans, Vt.

In 1853 the Butler family moved to Waukon, Iowa, but George, then 19 years of age, joined a government surveying party, laying out several counties near Superior, Wis. After a winter's experience in surveying in this wild and unsettled country, he took up a claim of land, ten miles west of St. Anthony, Minn., which is now a part of Minneapolis. After selling this claim, he visited his sister, Mrs. Ransom Lockwood, in Round Grove, Ill.

From boyhood until his twenty-second year he was a sceptic leaning toward infidelity. He had read the Bible through two or three times. He believed it contained many good things, but thought it was full of contradictions, and could not be understood. He would not swear, nor play cards. He would not smoke or drink, and had determined to lead an upright, honest life.

During the spring and summer of 1856 he visited Rock Island, Kansas City and St. Joseph, working in the latter place for three months. It was in Rock Island that he experienced conversion, under very unusual circumstances. The steamer on which he was a passenger stopped to load freight. While he was walking about the city his mind was filled with serious reflection, and dwelt especially upon a text of Scripture which he had always admired, "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." He looked up and said, "I'll do it, Lord." Immediately he felt that a change had come over him, and that he knew the joy of conversion. In the autumn he returned to Waukon and confessed his faith in Christ and was baptized by Elder J. N. Andrews.

After his conversion he taught school near his home for five terms. In 1858 he was married and settled upon a farm in Waukon. Here his children were born and here he gained his first experiences in the church as a burden bearer. Soon after joining the church he was made deacon, and later was chosen its elder.

In 1864 George I. Butler, the Waukon farmer, was chosen president of the Iowa Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists. Two years later he was ordained to the ministry by Elders James White and D. T. Bordeaux. For eight successive years he served as president of the Iowa Conference, after which he was called in 1872 to the presidency of the General Conference. To his energy and faithfulness is due in part the fact that the Iowa Conference became one of the strongest in the denomination.

Called to serve the larger interests of the church, at a time of rapid growth and expansion in all branches of its life and activities, Elder Butler applied himself to the work of developing each department to the utmost of efficiency. For many years he spent a large portion of his time in attending the annual conferences and camp-meetings, held from Maine to California, and from Minnesota to Florida. In these meetings he was called upon to present the faith and hope of the Seventh-day Adventist people to the largest congregations, and also to preside over the councils of the ministers and other workers, regarding their work at home and in the regions beyond. Then a few hours snatched from the meetings or the hours of rest were given to the writing of important letters.

Elders Butler and S. N. Haskell were called upon to raise money for the establishment of a training school for Christian workers. They took up the work with energy and in a short time they had answered and had gathered the necessary funds for the erection of Battle Creek College, in Battle Creek, Mich.

In 1874 Elder Butler made his first visit to California, and at a camp-meeting in Yountville, with the able assistance of Elder J. N. Loughborough, of St. Helena, Cal., presented to the people the necessities and advantages of a denominational publishing house on the Pacific Coast. Very quickly sufficient was pledged for the first buildings of the Pacific Press Publishing Association, first established at Twelfth and Castro streets, Oakland, and in 1904 moved to Mountain View, Cal., and enlarged.

From 1882 and onward he was for many years president of the Review and Herald Publishing Association. In this capacity, and as associate editor of the Review and Herald, of Washington, D. C., the official organ of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, and in all the councils of the workers, he exerted a mighty influence for the building up and extension of the publishing interests of the church. During those years hundreds of colporteurs were trained and sent out with books on the prophecies of the Bible, and hundreds of thousands of pamphlets and leaflets were distributed by the Seventh-day Adventists. Their publishing work has grown until more than two and a quarter million dollars' worth of Seventh-day Adventist literature is circulated each year.

Eighteen years after he was baptized by Elder J. N. Andrews in Waukon, Ia., Elder Butler presided at a General Conference in Battle Creek, Mich., at which Elder Andrews was chosen to go to Europe to open up the publishing work of the denomination in the French and other languages of Central Europe. Nine years later Elder Butler was sent to visit Europe, to study the condition and needs of the field, and the duty of the General Conference in putting the work on a stronger basis.

He spent more than a year in England, France, Switzerland, Holland and Scandinavia, preaching through interpreters, reporting to the American periodicals of the denomination, and gathering information which led the General Conference to take action for the establishing of three publishing centers in western Europe. A large printing house was built in Basle, Switzerland; another in Christiania, Norway, and a printing plant was located in rented buildings in Great Grimsby, England.

After Elder Butler returned from Europe, burdens fell heavily upon his shoulders. He was president of the Michigan Conference, president of the General Conference, president of the Review and Herald Publishing Association, chairman of the Battle Creek College board and a member of the sanitarium board. He never spared himself in labor, and could not leave a difficult task unfinished.

In 1888 his health broke. Instead of going to a sanitarium or seaside resort, he bought a 100-acre farm, and planted an orange orchard in Florida. His friends thought his public work was done. But he determined to enter again the work of an evangelist. Before he was able to do this, his wife was stricken with apoplexy, and for 12 years this man of iron struggled with the double burden of developing his farm and caring for his invalid wife.

During 1901 and 1902 the work of the Seventh-day Adventists in the southern states had been developing rapidly. A union conference had been organized and a publishing house established in Nashville, Tenn. Responsibilities were increasing, and able leadership was called for. At this juncture the eyes of the people turned to Elder Butler, and at the age of 68 he was called to take the presidency of the Southern Union Conference, and the Southern Publishing Association. These responsibilities he bore for six years, laboring untiringly from North Carolina to Louisiana and from Tennessee to Florida.

In 1907 Elder Butler married Mrs. Elizabeth Work Grainger, widow of Prof. W. C. Grainger, well known as a teacher and president of Healdsburg College, Healdsburg, Cal., for 12 years. In 1896 Prof. Grainger was sent out as the first Seventh-day Adventist missionary to Japan. He died in 1899.

Mrs. Butler enjoyed the Florida home, but the climate was too warm for her. After attending the General Conference of the Adventists in San Francisco last April, she came back to old friends in Healdsburg. They found a cordial welcome in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Heald, four miles south of Healdsburg. During the month of May Mrs. Butler gained strength rapidly. But Elder Butler failed rapidly, and it was ascertained that his sufferings were caused by a cancerous tumor in the stomach. During the last weeks of his life he was very cheerful, talked freely of his expected death, and many times, while lying on his bed, said, "O my God, how I love thee," and similar expressions, showing his confiding trust in his Maker.

ROLPH IN SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

Friday, August 2, Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, candidate for Governor, will pass through the San Fernando Valley according to the following schedule:

10:00 a. m.—Lankershim.
11:00 a. m.—Van Nuys.
12:00 m.—Owensmouth.
2:00 p. m.—San Fernando.
4:00 p. m.—Burbank.
5:00 p. m.—Glendale.
8:00 p. m.—Hollywood.

NOT A NEW IDEA TO HIM

"Now, Lieutenant Tompkins," said the general, "you have the battalion in quarter column, facing south—how would you get it into line, in the quickest possible way, facing northwest?"

"Well, sir," said the lieutenant, after a moment's fruitless consideration, "do you know, that's what I have often wondered."—Boston Transcript.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Sunday. Cloudy along the coast tonight and tomorrow morning. Light westerly winds.

THANK YOU!

Many thanks to the good people of Glendale, who have given such a remarkable reception to and has a pronounced tendency to aid stomach and bowel trouble. Have you tried it?

Second:—Every 200 loaves of Honey Loaf Bread put out saves

80 POUNDS OF WHEAT

for the boys who are fighting for the liberties of humanity. That means a saving of 30 pounds of wheat MORE than the government requirements. If all the bakeries of the entire country saved that amount of wheat daily it would amount to a vast saving. Phone Glendale 1350 and this excellent bread will reach you on our wagons. Again

Personals

Mrs. E. L. Early, of 216 Blanche avenue, left on Thursday for a visit to friends in Burbank.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Harlan, of 943 Mariposa street, were the guests for the day on Friday of friends at Long Beach.

Mrs. E. K. Barnes, of 1303 North Brand boulevard, will be hostess at a week-end party at Long Beach at which Miss Mary Logan will be the guest of Mrs. Barnes and Miss Harriet Barnes.

Miss Ruth Rider, daughter of Rev.
and Mrs. O. P. Rider, of 208 Acacia avenue, is spending a two weeks' vacation at Big Bear Lake, where she is with a group of Los Angeles friends who are enjoying a camping trip.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Corcoran, of 310 Cedar street, are the proud parents of a fine, ten-pound boy, born Friday, July 26. The small boy has already been named William and is the especial pride of his brother John, six years of age.

A motor party which left this morning for Big Bear Lake included
Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Eddy, of 883
South Louise street, Mr. and Mrs.
Don S. Erskine and daughter Dorothy, and Miss Hazel Ulbricht, of Eagle Rock. The group expects to be at the popular mountain resort for about two weeks.

S. Berman, of 110 East Palmer avenue, has taken his family for a summer outing of several weeks to Glenn Ranch, north of San Bernardino, where they expect to have a splendid time camping out. Mr. Berman will return on Sunday after having helped make camp, but plans to return to spend week ends at the family camp.

Mrs. C. R. Appenfelder, of 1206
West Seventh street, who was operated on at the Thornycroft Hospital the first of the week, is getting along as nicely as can be expected. Though Mrs. Appenfelder will not be able to receive callers for the next two weeks, her condition is hopeful and her recovery expected to be fairly rapid according to those in attendance.

Mrs. Mary A. Ayers of 215 East Palmer avenue is anticipating a three or four weeks' visit from her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Melrose, and son Clifford, of Bakersfield, who are expected to arrive this evening. Other recent guests at the home of Mrs. Ayers were W. James and family of Los Angeles, Captain Lilly of the Los Angeles fire department and Mr. Simpson of San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Phillips, of 710
West Fifth street, entertained at dinner on Wednesday evening John A.
McLellan, here on a furlough from Camp Lewis. Other out of town guests besides the guest of honor were Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Miller, of Kingsley drive, Los Angeles, and Tom Phillips who came home for the occasion from San Pedro, where he is in the naval reserve.

Rev. W. F. Stone, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Compton, Cal., will fill the pulpit at the First Baptist church of Glendale both morning and evening. Rev. Stone is well and favorably known to many of the residents of Glendale, he once having been pastor of the Baptist Church here. He would like to preach to all the Baptists of Glendale and all are urged to come and welcome him.

A motor party of Glendale people today made a trip to Santa Susana to visit the Glendale Land Army girls working there in the fruit conservation service. They were Mr. and Mrs.
Alexander Mitchell and Miss Barbara
Mitchell, Mrs. May Church, Mrs. Ella
Richardson and her daughter, Mrs.
Shives Mitchell, Mrs. Richardson's two sons and Miss Katherine Duncan.
Mrs. Shives Mitchell expected to take a train for her northern home after a brief visit with the Glendale Land Army volunteers.

Miss Marian Carmichael, of 433
Cedar street, and Miss Vivian Engle, of 340 West Fifth street, as representatives of the First Presbyterian Church, will attend the summer missionary conference to be held next week at Alamitos Bay. They expect to leave on Monday and will be away through the entire week according to present plans. Miss Engle plans to leave again, shortly after her return to Glendale, for Nenach, Cal., a town in Antelope Valley, where she is to teach a rural school during next year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Engle, of 340
West Fifth street, received a card on Thursday telling of the safe arrival overseas of their son, Carl Engle, who left Glendale on April 26th for Camp Lewis. Mr. Engle was transferred from Camp Lewis early in July, arriving at Camp Mills for embarkation with Co. A, 316th Ammunition Train, on July 5th. His family received several letters from him written on his trip east telling of the generous welcome met with at every stop. Accompanying the card of notification was a letter written just before leaving.

Hazard

If I had a million dollars to invest, do you suppose, for a minute, that I would insure your life for 4 or 5% a year?
Would it be a good investment?
Absolutely, No! It would be just like "taking a flyer" in speculative mining stocks.
There would be no investment about it—it would be a rank hazard.

And yet, if you are insurable, you can secure that protection from us, through the law of average, for less than 4 or 5% and if you don't buy all of it you can possibly pay for, your family is doing that very thing, viz: making that very investment, which you will admit is only a gambler's chance.

Is it good business to let them do this? Life is the most uncertain thing in the world.
Let me indemnify some of its financial value.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF VETERANS

The big annual picnic meeting of the N. P. Banks Post and Corps, held at Echo Park, Los Angeles, on Friday was attended by about 150 members of the joint organizations, and included a number of visitors from Los Angeles. Mrs. Louise Pur-nell, president of the W. R. C., with her committee, acted as hostesses and had under their direction the serving of the coffee at the long tables loaded with attractive "Hoover" lunches from the many baskets.

Martial music added the final touch to the patriotic festivities, the drum corps rendering old and new national airs with great enthusiasm, more

"Words For The Times"

KENWOOD AND WILSON AVENUE

A SMALL BOY'S PRAYER

At twelve o'clock Washington observes the Angelus in many offices and shops. For a few minutes everyone stops and makes a prayer for the President, the army and navy and victory. Many churches are open and hold noonday services for this purpose, and in many homes short prayers are offered. In one of the suburbs of the city, the children got interested, and a wide-awake boy, aged seven, impressed his playmates with the solemnity of the situation, and prevailed upon some fifty of them to join him in prayer. Not having been brought up on the state-ly petitions of ritualistic faith, he made his prayer according to his own traditions.

"But what do you say at your noonday prayers?" asked his mother.

"We kneel down and shut our eyes and put up our hands, and then I say, 'Now I lay me down to sleep'; but Oh, God, help us to lick the Germans!"

OF COURSE

"Who's dead?" asked the stranger, viewing the elaborate funeral procession.

"It's the mayor," was the reply.

"So the mayor is dead, is he?" mused the stranger.

"Well, I guess," said the small boy wistfully. "D'you think he was havin' a rehearsal?"

A FLIGHT UNDER THE BRIDGES

It was only a few years ago that the Wrights, father of them all, told us that flying over a city like New York was attended with so many and such great dangers, owing to the confusion of aerial currents above it, that such journeys should be attempted only for very urgent reasons and made only at the greatest heights then attainable. They were well justified, of course, and the apprehension they felt resulted in the passage here and elsewhere of ordinances sternly forbidding and heavily penalizing flights which, in case of accident, would be disastrous not only to the aviators themselves—but to the earthbound mortals on whom they would fall.

Now those ordinances have been forgotten by policemen and judges alike, and the big birds go where they will—not quite safely anywhere, perhaps, as yet, but as safely over cities as anywhere else, and the confusion of currents so much dreaded in the days that seem so long ago is ignored by the more powerful engine-driven airplanes of today.

To what extent the possibilities of aerial navigation with machines heavier than air have been increased since the first man made their wavering and timorous way down the Hudson to hasty landings on Governors Island was illustrated on Sunday, when Captain Boyriven proved in the most conclusive of ways that he could fly under the four East River bridges. He did it, too, not in one of the smaller and more agile machines, but in a big Haviland. That made the achievement the more remarkable, and demonstrated a perfection of control that would be amazing, if anything could amaze us in these days.

To appreciate what the Captain did at an elevation so low and in spaces so restricted, one must remember that he was moving at a speed of something like 140 miles an hour, and that the slightest deflection from his intended course, if it lasted for a single second, would have ended both his flight and himself. Even greater feats than this are performed daily on the battlelines in France, but this one stands alone, as yet, on this side of the water. The impulse to criticize it as the taking of a useless risk should be resisted. It is by doing such things that aviators become masters of their art and develop the abilities on which their lives depend when emergencies arise.

AN AID TO MEMORY

The stranger in camp pointed to a stack of army hats and caps on a shelf behind the desk in the "Y" hut. Said he to the secretary:

"I didn't know you ran a clothing store."

"We don't," replied the secretary. "Stick around a minute and you'll understand."

Before the minute had ended, a lad in khaki came in.

"Got a baseball to lend me?" he asked the man at the desk.

"Sure thing."

The secretary produced a ball from a box under the counter, the soldier seized it, left his hat in pawn and rushed away bareheaded toward the playing field.

"We tried keeping books on our athletic equipment at first," said the secretary. "But this way is simpler and more effective. We never run out of baseballs any more."

HAD HIS NUMBER

Father had been left in charge of the children, and very soon found it necessary to inform little Eleanor that she could not have any more cake.

Whereupon Eleanor began to weep and continued to do so for some time despite her father's admonitions.

"Do you know," he demanded, very seriously, "what I shall do if you go on making that dreadful noise?"

"Yes," sobbed Eleanor.

"Well, what is it?"

"You'll give me more cake."—Ex.

"Bobby, if you don't quit making so much noise I shall have to deal severely with you."

"What'll you do, ma?" asked the youngster who had been reading newspapers.

"Why—er—I'll intern you."—Ex.

Just as a Mighty Oak

Can grow from a small acorn—so can a fortune grow from a small bank account.

Both when well started have a steady growth. You can start your account this month. Even though it be a small one at first, if you will steadily add to it in a few years you will have a capital worth working for.

If you live in Glendale, make up your mind to start an account in this Glendale Bank and watch your money grow with the bank and the town.
